

THE BENEFITS OF OUR PRODUCTS

Natural

Historically, the most common approach to treating water was through the use of harmful and expensive chemicals. However, in today's world, being eco-friendly is vitally important. That is why at Arbourdale, we hold the belief that the best way to treat water is by using all-natural ingredients. The Arbourdale product line has delivered solutions to water problems for over ten years. Through the use of naturally occurring bacteria and enzymes with a patented release process, we supply a constant 24/7 monthly application for water clarity and water health. In the past, when using chemicals, doses often needed to be increased over time. But Bioverse's natural ingredients and specialized dosage amounts always remain constant and predictable.

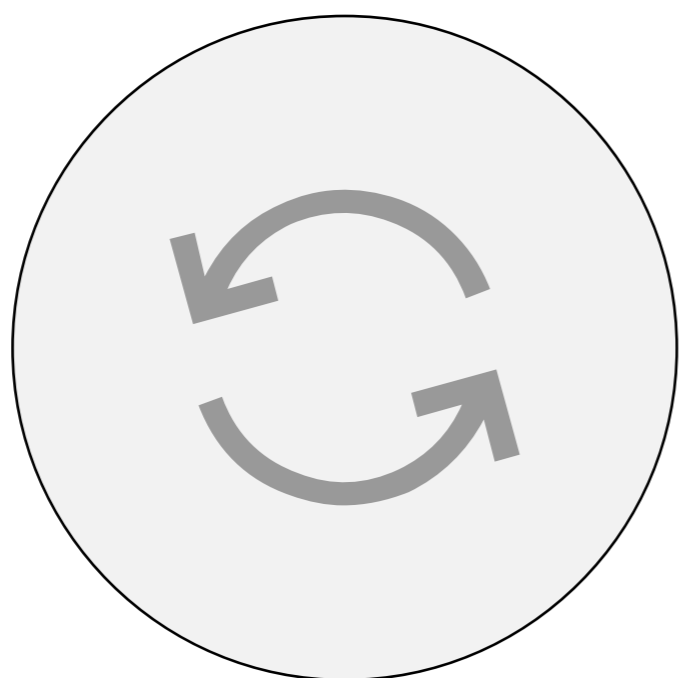

You can be assured that by using all-natural products, you are doing what is best for your water and at the same time what is best for the environment.

Safe

Arbourdale promises to distribute products that work with mother nature, in concert with natural processes not against them. Our solutions are safe for use around pets, wildlife, livestock, fish, plants and our most precious possession – children. Each Bioverse product is easy to use, meaning you can drop our product in the water and in 30 days simply refill or replace the treatment.

Many Bioverse spheres and dispensers also dissolve in the water over time – allowing for eco-friendly, no hassle water treatment.

You will never have to come in contact with chemicals again, and neither will Mother Nature!

Eco-Friendly

All Bioverse products are made with naturally occurring ingredients so that you will never introduce anything that is chemical-based or foreign into your water or the environment.

Our biodegradable sphere is made from a corn starch based product. We also offer eco-friendly refills for many of our popular products which minimizes packaging, while providing a cost-effective solution to some of the most commonly occurring water problems.

Effective

Through the use of naturally occurring formulations, Arbourdale products address the most common issues associated with water clarity and water health.

Every body of water is different, therefore the immediacy of results will vary, but through consistent application, water conditions improve. The success of the Bioverse treatment program will be determined by applying a refill product or a new application regularly every 30 days. This approach will ensure a constant level of beneficial bacteria to deliver the desired results naturally and effectively.
